

CREATION

STATION

Activity Book

THE UNIVERSITY OF TENNESSEE
CHATTANOOGA
SOUTHEAST CENTER FOR EDUCATION IN THE ARTS

TRANSFORMING COMMUNITIES IN AND THROUGH THE ARTS

The Southeast Center for Education in the Arts is an award-winning center under the UTC College of Health, Education, and Professional Studies that cultivates interdisciplinary partnerships where creative thinking serves as a catalyst for impact in early learning, K-12 education, and workforce development. In our work, artistic disciplines become an applied practice for transforming communities in and through the arts.

SCEA builds bridges beyond the classroom by fostering innovative practices and engagements with partners across the 16 county, tri-state region surrounding Chattanooga, TN.

ABOUT THE DESIGNER

Rachel Loeffler
Student Assistant
Southeast Center for Education in the Arts at UTC
Art Education Major, UTC Class of 2019

Designed by The Southeast Center for Education in the Arts' student assistant, Rachel Loeffler, a Kim Alan Wheatley Interdisciplinary Scholar. Rachel aspires to become a K-12 visual arts educator and an advocate for the arts. She is passionate about the integration of arts in education, community, and family engagement.

Learn more about SCEA at utc.edu/scea.

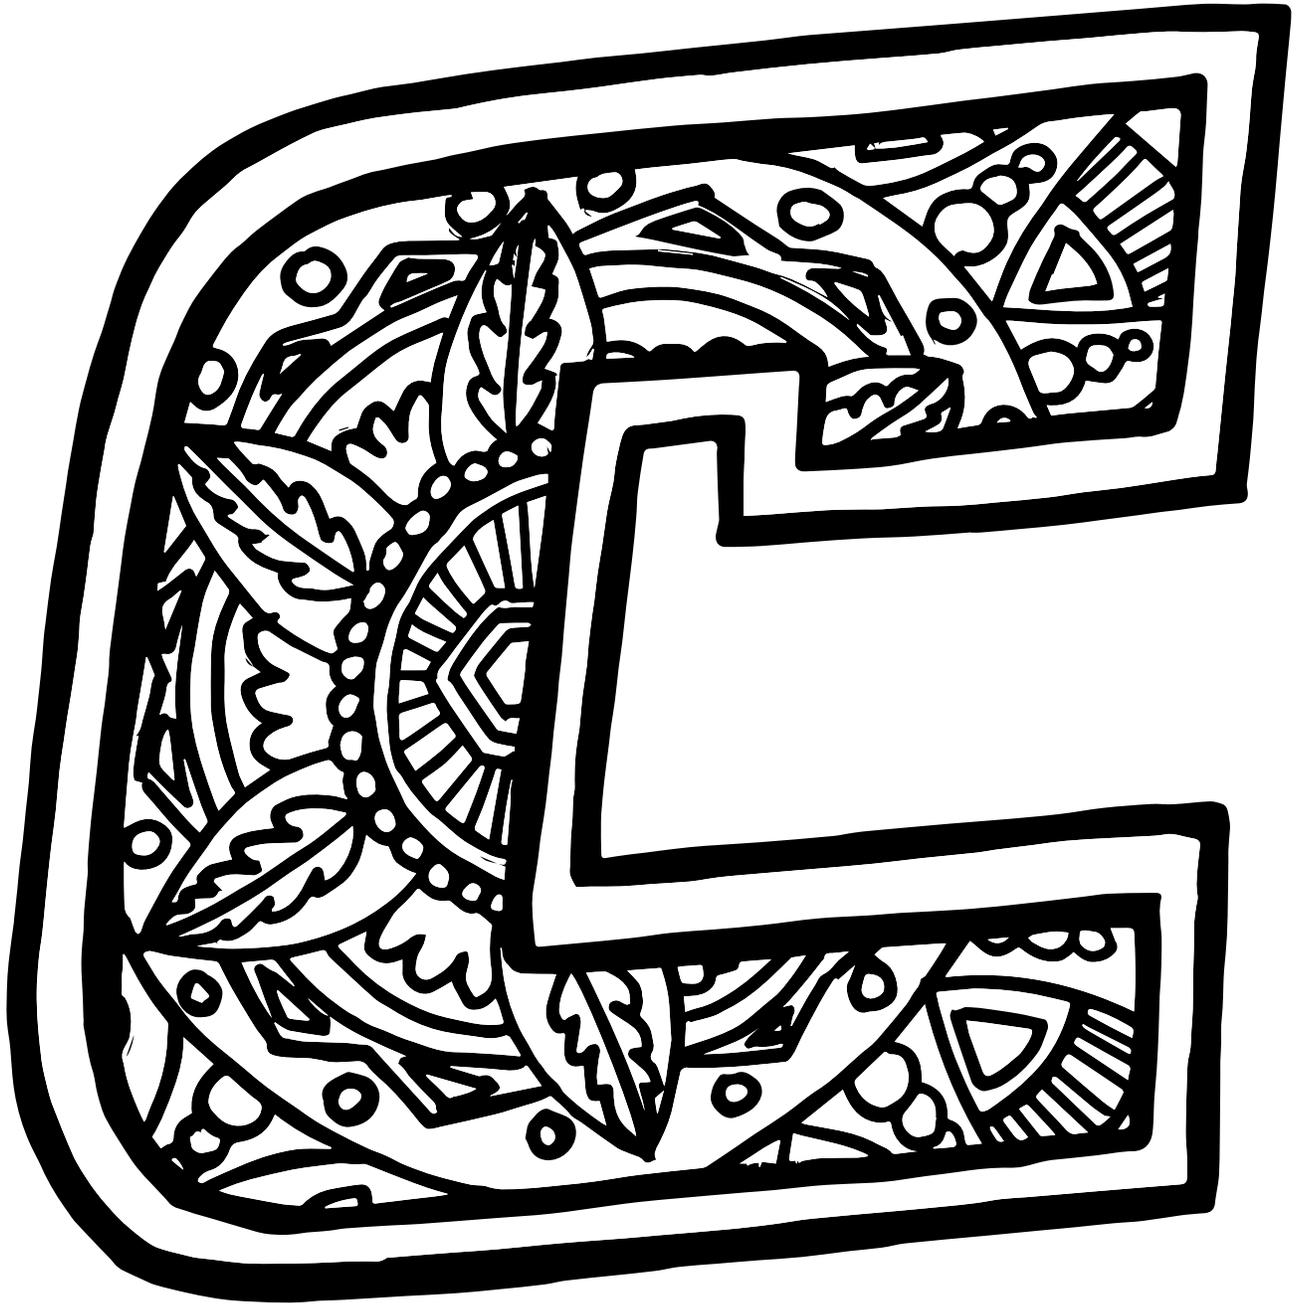

seven stages

see

CHOO-CHOO

ROCK CITY

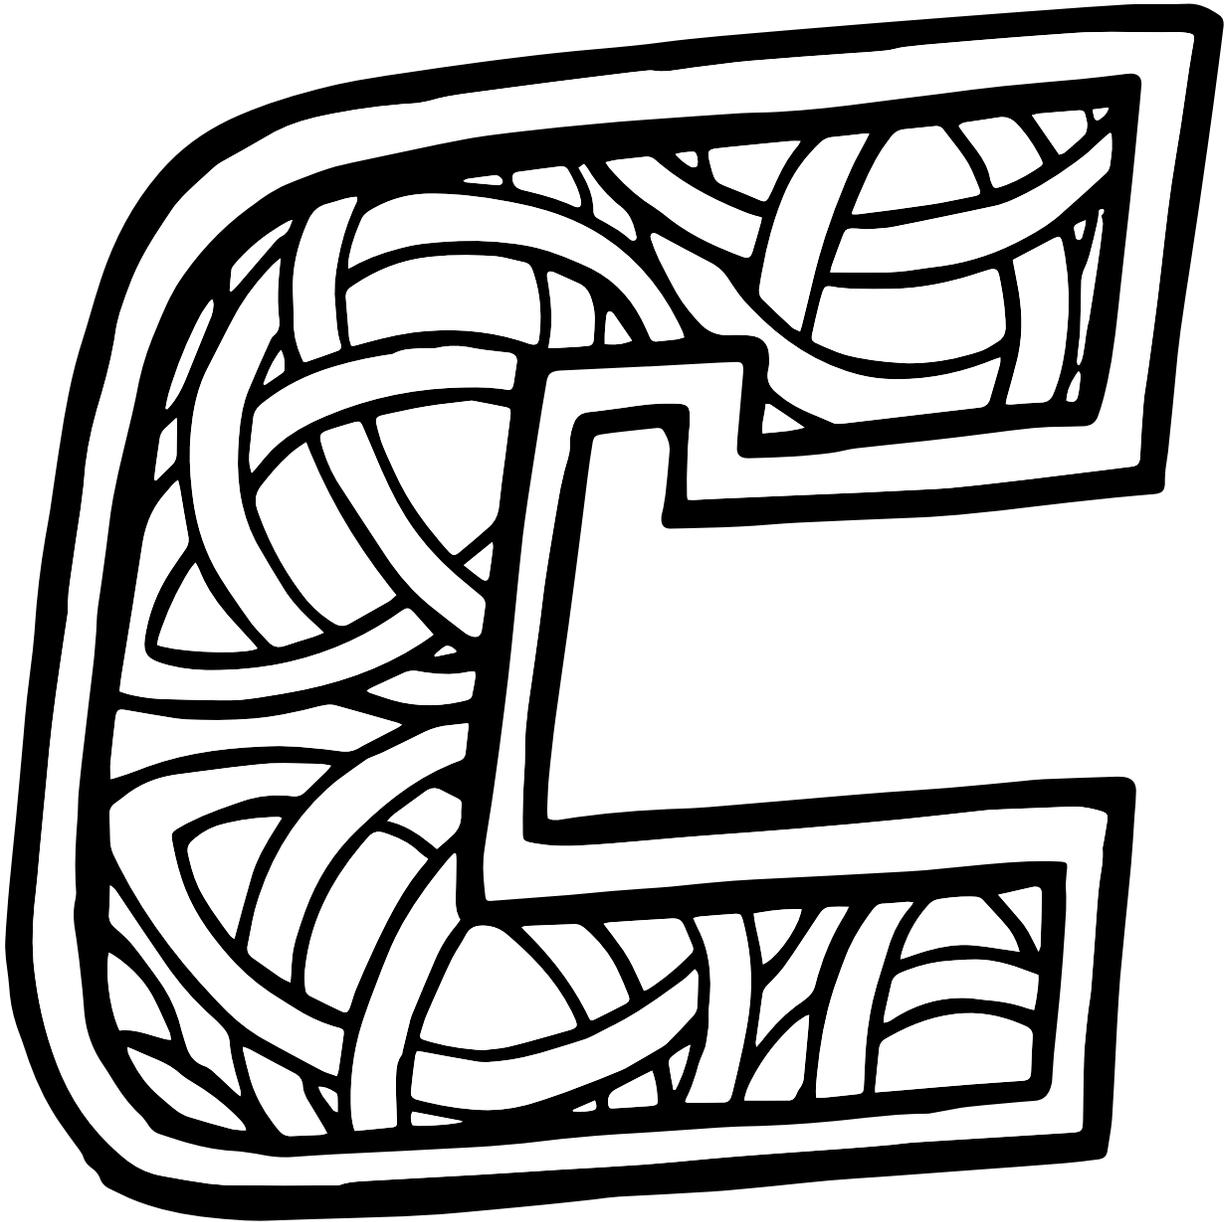

Share your art online with these hashtags! #creationstation #scea

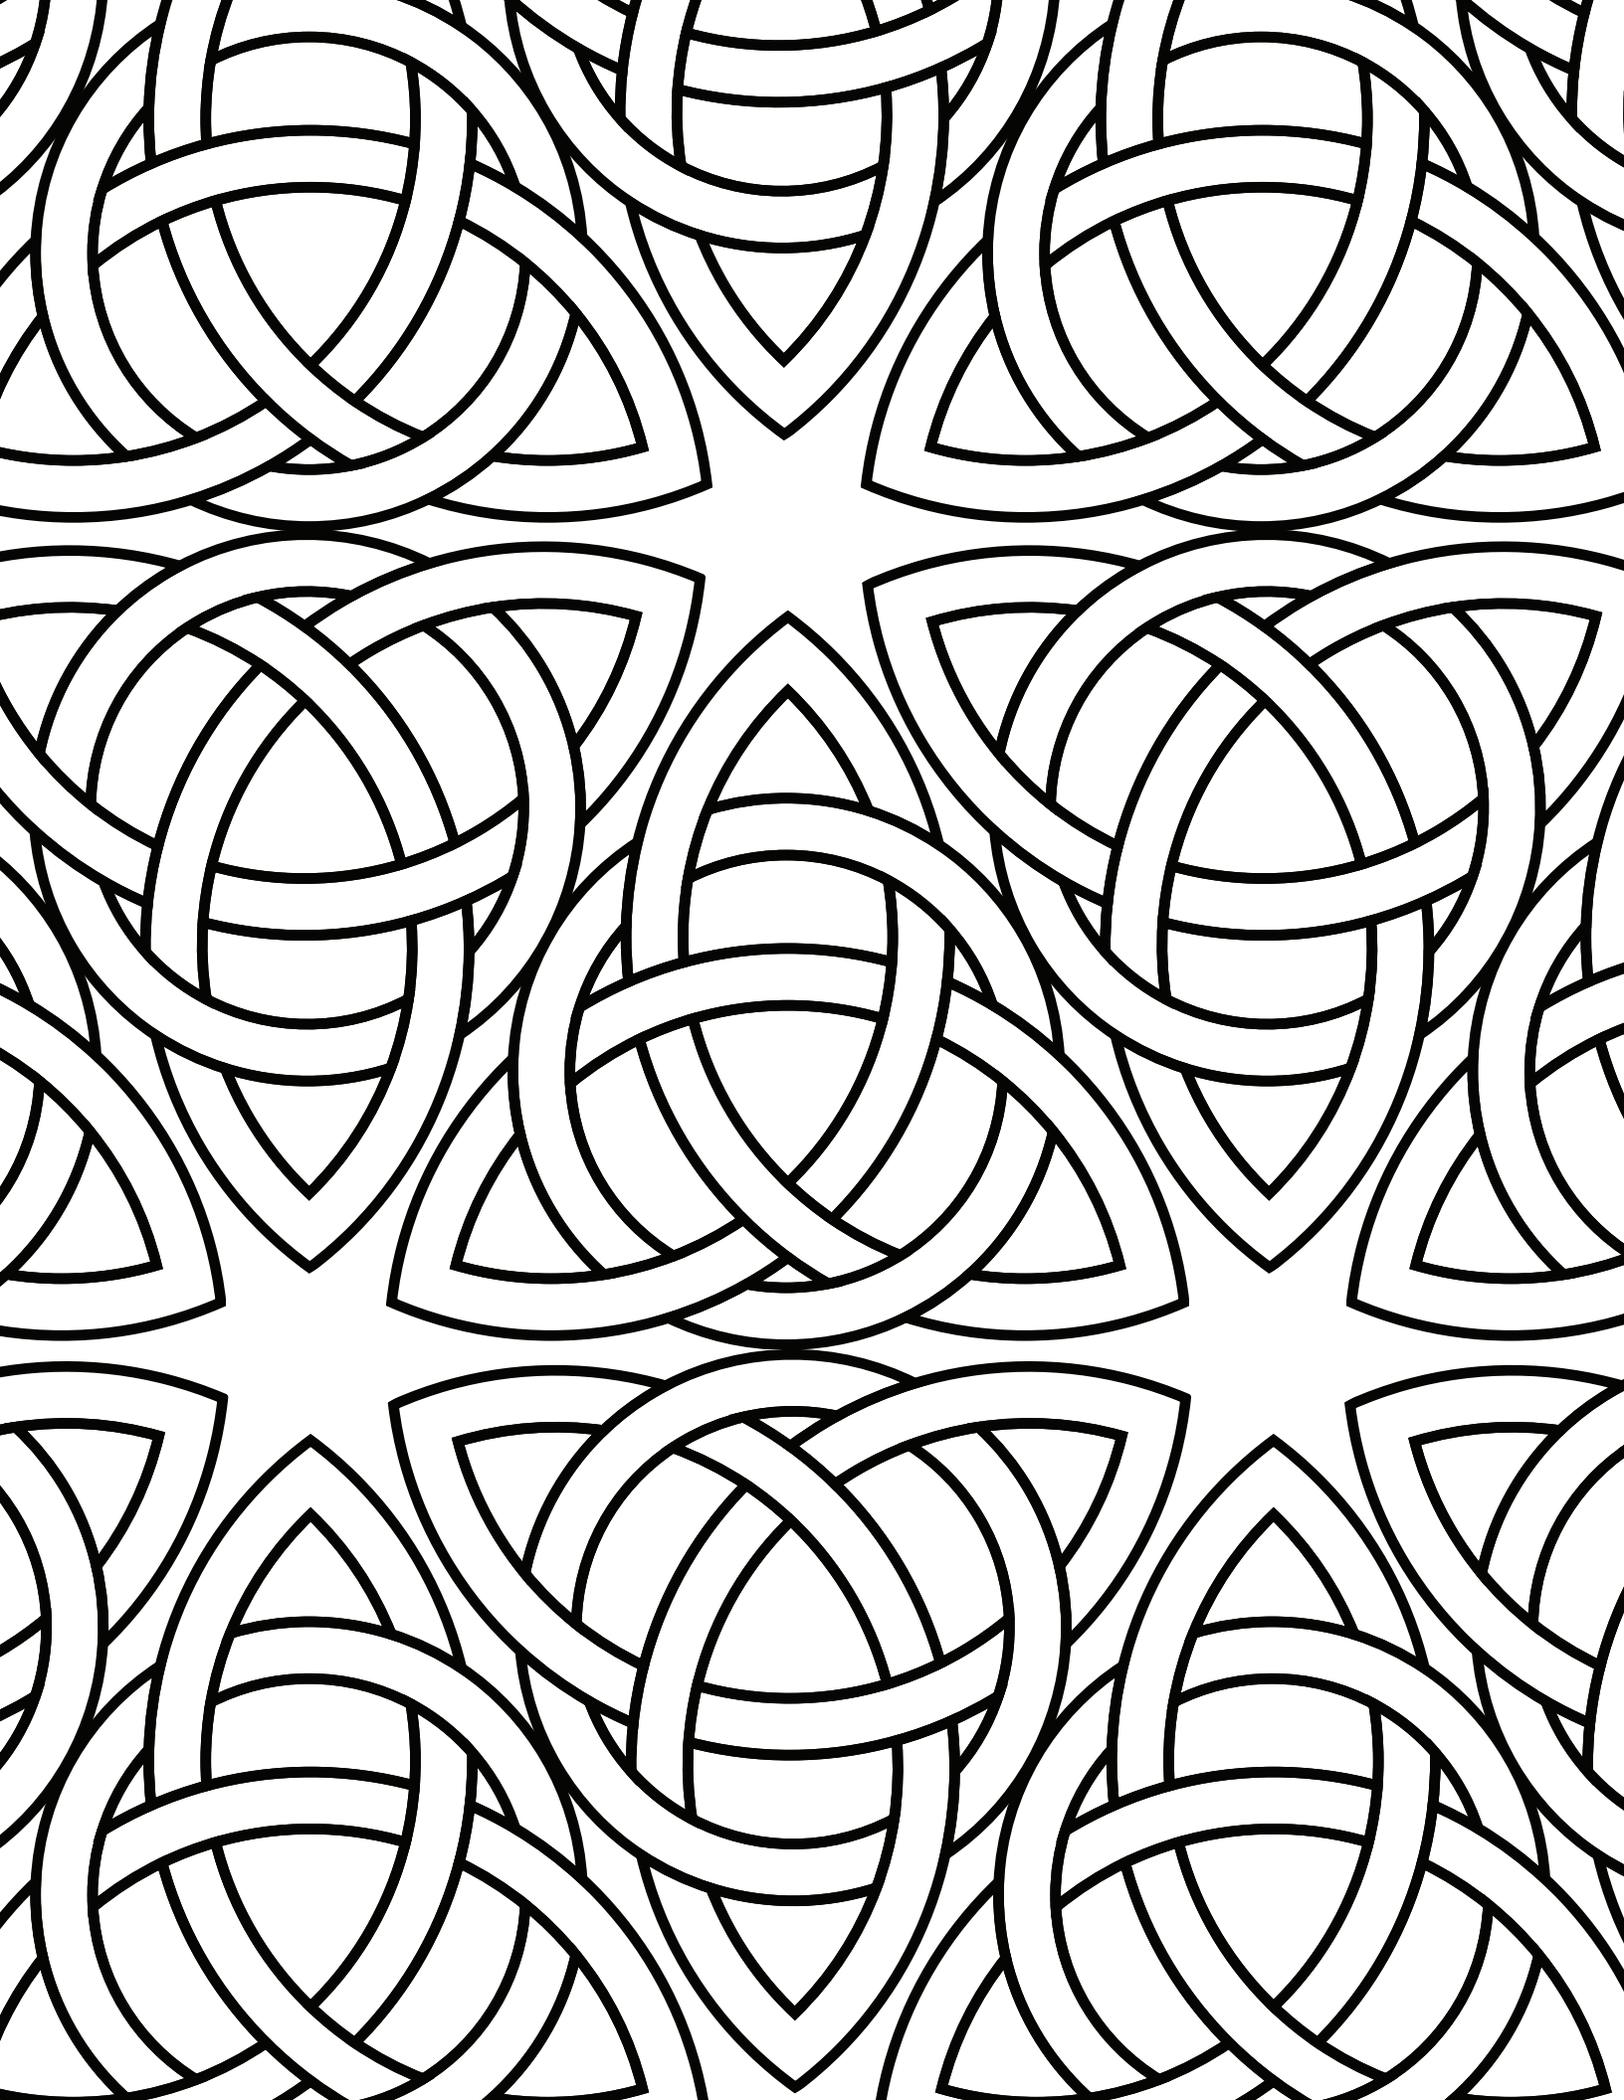

Try your own design!

Share your art online with these hashtags! #creationstation #scea

Share your art online with these hashtags! #creationstation #scea

Let's see what you create! Share your art online with these hashtags. #creationstation #scea

