

We're Looking for a Few Good Pages!

The Sally B. Young Undergraduate Critical Writing Award

Submit the best critical essay written for an undergraduate English course at UTC during the 2016 calendar year (Spring, Summer, or Fall '16 terms) and win $500. Winners will be selected via blind review by a five-member faculty committee. DEADLINE: March 10th, 2017.

Win $500 and Immortal Fame

Entry Criteria

1. Essay must be 5-15 pages.
2. Must be a critical essay – literary criticism, critical theory, or rhetorical analysis (personal essays, creative non-fiction, etc. will not be considered).
3. Essay does NOT have to be a researched critical essay. Authors do NOT have to be English majors.
4. The paper must have been written for a course taught in the English Department during the 2016 calendar year at the ENGL 2000 level or above.

Submission Instructions:

- 1) Include a cover sheet with your name, address, e-mail address, phone number, the name and number of the course for which the paper was written, and the name of the course instructor.
- 2) Include FIVE copies of your essay, making sure that your name does not appear anywhere on any of the copies.
- 3) Send cover letter and the five anonymous copies to Dr. Christopher Stuart, Chair, Sally B. Young Writing Award Committee, UTC, English Department, Dept. 2703, 615 McCallie, Ave., Chattanooga TN 37403-2598.