

SUMMER 2021 ONLINE COURSES

We are offering a vast array of criminal justice classes online this summer. If you have never taken summer classes before, they are a great way to both catch up and work ahead in a short summer session (5 1/2 weeks). This summer we are offering many core and elective courses, due to the limited availability of many of these courses during the past year because of COVID.

There are two sessions of summer courses. Summer I is from May 19-June 25, 2021, and Summer II is from June 28 - August 3, 2021. Below is a table of the offerings for Summer I and II along with the descriptions and instructors for each course. If you are interested in taking any of these courses, please feel free to reach out to me, Dr. Courtney Crittenden (courtney-crittenden@utc.edu) the Online Program Coordinator, or to the instructor of the class you are interested in taking.

Please note that in summer we are able to waive many of the requirements for pre-requisites, so if that is a problem for you, please feel free to reach out to Dr. Crittenden, and she will be happy to work with you.

Summer I (05/19-06/25)	Summer II (06/28-08/03)
Core (required) Major Courses	Core (required) Major Courses
CRMJ 1700 Criminal Law: Have you ever wondered what your rights are if you are stopped by the police? What about your rights if you are arrested? What about the crime tv shows and movies and how they portray these rights and situations- are they realistic? Find out the answers to these questions and many more in Introduction to Criminal Law (CRMJ 1700)! Instructor: Prof. Karen McGuffee (karen-mcguffee@utc.edu)	CRMJ 1100 Introduction to the Criminal Justice System: Whether you are a Criminal Justice major or not, have you ever wondered how the criminal justice system works? Do you want to know how it all started? Have you ever asked the bigger question: why do we make laws and why do we enforce those laws the way we do? In Introduction to Criminal Justice (1100), we will discuss the answers to not only those questions but also contemporary issues and problems within the systems and ways to go about addressing these issues. The criminal justice system touches us all. Come explore law enforcement, courts, corrections and much more in CRMJ 1100! Instructor: Ms. Sara Knox (sara-knox@utc.edu)
CRMJ 3110 Criminal Justice Research Methodology: How do we know what we know about crime and victimization? RESEARCH! In research methods, we discuss all the ways that	CRMJ 3100 Policing: If you plan to work for law enforcement agencies or want to learn more about the latest homeland security strategies take policing. If you are interested in international and foreign

criminologists conduct research. We will learn different methods to gather data such as surveying and interviewing people, observing folks in the field, and even how criminologists evaluate programming to determine if it's working. Summer is an excellent time to take Research Methods (CRMJ 3110), regardless of whether you are trying to catch up or work ahead! Instructor: Dr. Courtney Crittenden (courtney-crittenden@utc.edu)	police organizations, you will find more than you expect in Policing (CRMJ 3100) this Summer 2021. * Will not be offered again online or in person until Spring 2022* Instructor: Dr. Ahmet Kule (ahmet-kule@utc.edu)
CRMJ 3120 Corrections Are you interested in learning about the origins of the modern correctional system? Do you want to better understand the inmate experience in jails and prisons? Are you a Criminal Justice major looking to work ahead? Consider taking CRMJ 3120 this summer and you can learn these things and so much more as we explore corrections and look to what the future holds for this important part of the criminal justice system. There is something that can help inform any major in this class. * Will not be offered again online or in person until Spring 2022* Instructor: Prof. Andy Browne (john-browne@utc.edu)
Elective Courses	Elective Courses
CRMJ 3030 Comparative Criminal Justice Systems: Have you ever wondered why kobans in Japan has been upheld as the gold standard of community policing? Have you ever wondered why hudud offenses in Saudi Arabia (i.e., adultery) must be initiated and prosecuted by the state but for a tazirat offense (i.e., murder) the victim's family is responsible for bringing the complaint and serving as the prosecutor? And have you ever been intrigued by the existence of secretive "black jails" in China? If you have ever thought about these and more, then Comparative Criminal Justice System	CRMJ 3170 Minorities and Criminal Justice: During a time where diversity issues within criminal justice have become part of our everyday conversations, our course, Minorities &amp; Criminal Justice will provide you the opportunity to review the various components of the CJ system from a minority-specific perspective. This course will provide an overview of minority-related issues in crime, policing, the courts, corrections, and juvenile justice Instructor: Dr. Sherah Basham (sherah-basham@utc.edu)

(CRMJ 3030) is the course for you. Here you will study and compare the diverse and complex aspects of police, courts, and corrections around the world. Instructor: Dr. Gale Iles (gale-iles@utc.edu)
CRMJ 3700 Drugs - The Law and the Community:  Have you ever wondered why loved ones develop addictions? Have you ever wondered why there is a disproportionate number of minorities being sentenced to correctional facilities or considered why the “war on drugs” has been a failure? Have you ever wondered if the police actually have to tell you who they are or if you will go to prison for being with someone who is doing drugs? Have you ever wondered if smoking marijuana will cause you to develop a third eye? Come and take Drugs with Dr. Garland this summer to find out the answers to these questions. No, we don’t mean engage in the process of doing drugs, but we do want you to learn the realities of drugs, addiction, and the criminal justice system. Sign up for CRMJ 3700 Drugs: Law and the Community to learn everything you ever wanted to know about drugs. Instructor: Dr. Tammy Garland (tammy-garland@utc.edu)	CRMJ 4200 Family Violence and Criminal Justice:  In Family Violence and Criminal Justice (CRMJ 4200), you will be provided with an in-depth examination of family violence (i.e., child abuse, intimate partner violence, and elder abuse). We will focus on the nature and consequences of each type of family violence, as well as explore theoretical explanations for these forms of violence. We will also examine the current criminal justice and social services systems response to family violence. Instructor: Dr. Christina Policastro (christina-policastro@utc.edu)

Again, if you have any questions, please feel free to reach out to me, Dr. Crittenden (courtney-crittenden@utc.edu) or the instructor for the course you are interested in taking. We look forward to seeing you this summer!