

Graduate Yearlong Experience And Residency for Acquiring STEM Teaching Competencies

Noyce Track 2 Teaching Fellowships

Fellowship Information

Funded by the National Science Foundation through the Robert Noyce Teacher Scholarship Program, this fellowship offers significant support to STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics) professionals as they prepare to become secondary mathematics or science teachers.

Each year, 12 Master of Education students will receive fellowships. Each recipient will receive funding to cover the cost of tuition and fees at UTC. The student must agree to commit 4 years of teaching in a high-need school within Hamilton County Schools.

Application Deadline: Please check for further information.

Eligibility. The student must:

- be a STEM professional with a bachelor's or graduate degree in a STEM* discipline.
- have a minimum overall and content major GPA of 3.0.
- be a U.S. citizen, U.S. national, or permanent resident alien.
- not have previously served (including concurrent service) as a K-12 teacher.
- complete the project application, UTC application to the Graduate School, FAFSA form, and virtual interview.
- complete a successful background check (prior to selection) and purchase liability insurance (prior to residency).

*The candidate with a degree in engineering or computer science will be required to pass the Praxis content exam for the area of teacher licensure (mathematics or one of the natural sciences).

Fellowship Award: A fellowship will provide for the cost of tuition, fees, and a book allowance.

Application Materials

The applicant must submit a complete an application packet including:

- application including a two-page personal statement.
- most recent transcripts from UTC and other college-level institutions attended (unofficial copy).
- a copy of the student's FAFSA form (Free Application for Federal Student Aid).
- two letters of recommendation from content area faculty. Please arrange for these letters to be received promptly.
