

A celebration of the region's rich legacy of sharing

9.1.09

Living and giving

UTC celebration

■ Event: Celebration of the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga's designation as a Community Engaged University by the Carnegie Foundation.

■ The designation: UTC received the elective classification in Curricular Engagement and Outreach and Partnerships.

■ What it means: By receiving the classification, UTC makes a commitment to Chattanooga to be a leader in education, in economic development, and in community outreach.

■ How many are honored: 119 institutions received the classification this year.

■ UTC's application task force: Deborah Arken, planning coordinator; Karen Adsit, director of the Walker Teaching Resource Center and co-chairman of the Strategic Planning Initiative; Chuck Cantrell, assistant vice chancellor for university relations; Terry Denniston, executive assistant to the chancellor; and Richard Gruetzemacher, director of institutional research.

CONTRIBUTED PHOTOS

Mike Costa, general manager at NewsChannel 9 and chairman of the UTC Chancellor's Round Table; Jim Brexler, chief executive officer of Erlanger Health System; and John Delaney, vice chancellor for student development at UTC, from left.

Mike Costa, UTC Chancellor Roger Brown and Student Government President Scott Stuart lead the audience in a celebratory toast with sparkling grape juice.